

The UK's
Scariest Adrenalin Experience

The Abyss @ Magna

Zip Wire

The Zip Wire is great for those unsure of adrenalin activities, or for building the confidence of those wanting to progress to more adventurous activities later. With a minimum level of instruction required the Zip Wire is a perfect way of including participants from all backgrounds. Starting from the steps of an old overhead crane capable of lifting 100 tonnes and standing at 70ft in height, the Zip Wire stretches out 250ft down the length of Magna, you'll find yourself flying over old melting pots from a bygone era while spectators watch you the whole way from a parallel walkway.

Abseil (free abseil)*

Abseiling is an extremely exhilarating and testing activity requiring the participant to control their own descent to the ground. Climbing the steps in Magna's 150ft Face of Steel Building can be a daunting challenge in itself, however once at our purpose built abseil platform our qualified instructor will put you at ease and explain the principles involved before setting you on your way (* Note – this is a free abseil meaning that you abseil into free air and not down the side of a wall)

Powerfan™

The POWERFAN® is currently unique to The Abyss being the only one in the world from this height. Powerfan is a highly engineered machine that is able to provide the freefall adventure of your life; it is a device that will safely and repeatedly control a person's descent, dissipating the potential energy by means of a fan. With you fully kitted in a safety harness and attached to the Powerfan's chord, in essence it enables you to step off the platform high up in the 150ft face of steel building and make a very rapid descent towards the floor before the fan system above you kicks in ensuring you float to a soft landing.

Bungee Jump

Picture the scene: You are enveloped in semi darkness, spot lights whirl around Magna's breathtaking structure, the Face of Steel, standing at 150 feet; you start the 143 step climb to the jump zone music pumps out of a wall of speakers, dry ice fills the air, and 7 huge video screens project images of what you are about to experience ...and that's before you've even taken the plunge!

The Abyss @ Magna launched on November 9th 2005 is the UK's scariest adrenalin experience, the WORLD's highest indoor Bungee Jump and the only permanent Bungee Jumping facility in the UK

Safety

All activities are run by the UK Bungee Club and insured by Zurich for £5 million public liability. With a 100% safety record UK Bungee was instrumental in developing the BERSA Safe Code of Practice for Bungee Jumping in the 1990's and has continued to work with the relevant authorities to improve safety for over a decade. The key aspect of the BERSA code is the principle of REDUNDANCY and it is this principle that UK Bungee applies to all activities it is involved with. This basically means that any task undertaken by staff, or equipment used, has a backup, in procedure or hardware to safeguard participants. All equipment is independently tested and certificates are always available to view on the site. All staff under go a comprehensive and stringent training program with senior site staff having sat exams both written and practical.
